Contents

1 Introduction	1
Definitions	1
Composition and Classification	2
Naming of Meteorites	2
Falls and Finds	3
Fossil Meteorites	4
Recognition of Meteorites	4
Why Study Meteorites?	5
History of Meteorite Research	6
The Literature of Meteorites	7
2 Phenomena of Fall	9
Orbits of Meteorites	9
Light and Sound Effects	11
Velocity Effects	12
Impact Effects	14
Meteorite Craters	17
Geographical Distribution of Meteorites	21
Frequency of Falls	21
Time of Falls	24
Observations to Be Made of Meteorite Falls	25

3	The Morphology of Meteorites	27
	Size	27
	Shape	34
	Surface Features	43
	Fusion Crust	44
4	The Classification of Meteorites	46
5	The Minerals of Meteorites	53
6	The Chondrites	70
	Introduction	70
	Classification	71
	Chemical Composition	73
	Mineralogical Composition	79
	Structure	82
	The Enstatite Chondrites	87
	The Olivine-Bronzite Chondrites	89
	The Olivine-Hypersthene Chondrites	91
	The Olivine-Pigeonite Chondrites	92
	The Carbonaceous Chondrites	95
	Organic Material in Carbonaceous Chondrites	98
	Origin of the Chondrites	101
7	The Achondrites	104
	Introduction	104
	The Enstatite Achondrites	107
	The Hypersthene Achondrites	110

The Olivine Achondrites	111
The Olivine-Pigeonite Achondrites	111
The Pyroxene-Plagioclase Achondrites	113
The Augite Achondrites	115
The Diopside-Olivine Achondrites	116
Origin of the Achondrites	116
8 The Stony-Irons		120
Introduction	120
The Pallasites	122
Siderophyre	125
Lodranite	125
The Mesosiderites	125
9 The Irons		130
Introduction	130
Chemical Composition	131
The Hexahedrites	133
The Octahedrites	137
The Nickel-Rich Ataxites	140
The Iron Meteorites in Terms of the Fe-Ni System	141
10 The Elemental Composition of Meteoritic Matter		148
11 Meteorite Ages		183
Introduction	183
The Lead Isotope Method	184
The Rubidium-Strontium Method	185
The Rhenium-Osmium Method	186
The Potassium-Argon Method	186

The Uranium-Helium Method	187
Cosmic-Ray Ages	187
Terrestrial Age of Meteorites	187
Extinct Radioactive Nuclides	190
12 The Origin of Meteorites	192
Introduction	192
Pertinent Facts	192
The Nature of the Problem	193
Theories of Origin	195
13 Tektites	201
Introduction	201
Geographical Distribution	202
Chemical Composition	204
Physical Properties	207
External Form and Internal Structure	211
Ages of Tektites	216
Origin of Tektites	218
Appendix I Chemical Analyses of Meteorites and Their Interpretation	221
Appendix II Meteorites of the United States	227
Bibliography	247
Index	263
